Principal’s Corner:
Hello Valley View Community,
A special thank you for all the cards and words of encouragement that we have received either when the packets have been returned or when we have seen you at the MPR door for curriculum and food pick up. It means a lot to us to hear from the community.
As we continue our remote learning experience, there may be opportunities for your students to connect with their teachers via online platforms such as Google Meets or Google Hangouts. In order for them to access these platforms they will need to use their school email addresses and passwords. All classroom teachers should have access to these items and can provide them to you if you do not have them.
I want to remind parents to regularly wash their hands, as well as, making sure their children wash theirs. The CDC also recommends you avoid touching your face. With all of your help we can get through this difficult time.
Thank you all for your diligence.
With Optimism,
Paul Roberts, Principal

Notes from the Nurse:

Hello Valley View parents and guardians! I know it has been a challenging few weeks! Keep up the good work! I want to take a moment to remind you that the school district has set up a hotline for you to reach out to us nurses to ask healthcare questions. schoolnursehotline@sau.org. It is staffed school days 8am-2pm, by myself and the nurses from the middle school and high schools, but since it is via email, you can leave a non-urgent message any time, and we will answer your question during those hours. We are keeping busy keeping ourselves up to date on all the most recent information on COVID19; checking facts, and keeping in contact with DHHS and the CDC; so we can best advise you!

As Mr. Roberts encouraged above, remember to wash your hands (and your kiddo’s hands) and avoid touching your face. I would like to add, keep up with coughing into your elbows, practice social distancing, and don’t forget to do things to reduce your stress. Popular stress reduction strategies include walking, hiking, indoor exercise like dancing and yoga, reading, baking, arts and crafts, and board games. And use any technology you have to stay connected to friends and family. Video conference calls to sing happy birthday, or a virtual playdate (parents can do this too!) can make a big difference in your day.

Stay healthy,

Nurse Stacy

Thank you to everyone that participated in Remote Learning Spirit Week!!
